explores how writers filmmakers and artists have attempted to reckon with the legacy of a devastating war the iran iraq war was the longest conventional war of the 20th century the memory of it may have faded in the wake of more recent wars in the region but the harrowing facts remain over one million soldiers and civilians dead millions more permanently displaced and disabled and an entire generation marked by prosthetic implants and teenage martyrdom these same facts have been instrumentalized by agendas both foreign and domestic but also aestheticized defamiliarized readdressed and reconciled by artists writers and filmmakers across an array of identities linguistic arabic persian kurdish religious shiite sunni atheist and political iranian iraqi internationalist official discourses have unsurprisingly tried to dominate the process of production and distribution of war narratives in doing so they have ignored and silenced other voices centering on novels films memoirs and poster art that gave aesthetic expression to the iran iraq war the essays gathered in this volume present multiple perspectives on the war s most complex and underrepresented narratives these scholars do not naively claim to represent an authenticity lacking in official discourses of the war but rather they call into question the notion of authenticity itself finding deciding upon and creating a language that can convey any sort of truth at all collective national or private is the major preoccupation of the texts and critiques in this diverse collection the typical day interests and familial social and cultural lives of middle eastern teens are examined with unprecedented insight every 3rd issue is a quarterly cumulation this indispensable guide to modern arabic literature in english translation features not only a comprehensive bibliography but also chapters on fiction drama poetry and autobiography as well as a special chapter on iraq s arabic literature by focusing on najib mahfuz one of arabic literature s luminaries and on poetry a major if not the major genre of the region altoma assesses the progress made towards a wider reception of arabic writing throughout the western world the war in iraq has put the condition of iraqi women firmly on the global agenda for years their lives have been framed by state oppression economic sanctions and three wars now they must play a seminal role in reshaping their country's future for the twenty first century nadje al ali challenges the myths and misconceptions which have dominated debates about iraqi women bringing a much needed gender perspective to bear on the central political issue of our time based on life stories and oral histories of iraqi women she traces the history of iraq from post colonial independence to the emergence of a women's movement in the 1950s saddam hussein's early policy of state feminism to the turn towards greater social conservatism triggered by war and sanctions yet the book also shows that far from being passive victims iraqi women have been and continue to be key social and political actors following the invasion al ali analyses the impact of occupation and islamist movements on women's lives and argues that us led calls for liberation has led to a greater backlash against iraqi women
